Best Bet of the Day

Race #2

(4) UPPITY UP

Now taking a triple drop in class with this start, Uppity Up looks poised to get the victory today. She's not going to have to run against the likes of Starship Macys, I'm Heading East or Amakami today. You get the Leading Jock back aboard today as the Pilot, and she hails from a barn where the Trainer, John Bourke, is 28% third off of the layoff. That's a potent combination in this application, not to mention this horse having an affinity for the distance (5/8 ITM).

Race #3

(2) CRANK IT UP

Trainer Todd Beattie, isn't going to ship all this way to whistle Dixie. He's coming here to win, plain and simple. The Frosted Filly is trying Synthetic for the first time today, but her pedigree shouldn't pose any problems, as she is out of a War Front mare that screams Tapeta. Her conditioner is 29% when dropping down 2+ classes. She has some solid back class running at much bigger tracks, against much better competition than this race.
